

THE SEVENTY-SECOND SESSION

Harvard Model United Nations

January 30th, 2025 — February 2nd, 2025

DELEGATION PORTAL

The oldest, largest, and most prestigious Model UN conference for high school students will be held in person at the Boston Sheraton and Marriott Hotels.

Letter from the Secretary- General

Dearest Delegates and Faculty Advisors,

It is an honor and a privilege that I get to welcome you all to the Seventy-Second Session of Harvard Model United Nations from Thursday, January 30, 2025 to Sunday, February 2, 2025 at Boston, Massachusetts.

My name is Calvin Osborne, a senior at Harvard College studying a joint concentration in mathematics and philosophy, and I am humbled to be serving as your Secretary-General for the upcoming iteration of our conference. I have participated in Model United Nations since my sophomore year of high school, and this activity means just as much for me now, after competing over fifteen times on the collegiate circuit, as it did at my first conference in high school. Harvard Model United Nations has been an integral part of my time at Harvard—serving as an Assistant Director, Director, and then as the Under-Secretary-General of the Specialized Agencies for Harvard Model United Nations 2024, this community has become a home for me, just as it has become a home to so many students from across the country and beyond.

There are a multitude of challenges that face our world today, and, as rising leaders in this ever tumultuous world, it is Harvard Model United Nations' mission to help prepare our delegates with the skills that they need to succeed, from public speaking and substantive research to leadership and diplomacy. In each delegate's preparation for and participation in the conference, they will learn how to work with others to problem solve and develop solutions for the world's most pressing and complicated problems.

As the oldest, largest, and most prestigious Model United Nations conference of its type, hundreds of Harvard College students and thousands of high school delegates and their faculty advisors will come together in Boston next January, bringing together some of the most promising and ambitious students from across the world to collaborate together and grow both as individuals and as leaders.

I am excited to expand upon the vision and goals of Harvard Model United Nations in the following year—from furthering our substantive excellence, innovating our committee offerings, and streamlining our executive services, my Secretariat and I are excited to make the Seventy-Second Session of Harvard Model United Nations as strong as it can be. Please do not hesitate to reach out to info@harvardmun.org with any questions or concerns that you may have during your registration process or preparations for the conference.

Once again, I could not be more excited to welcome you all to the Seventy-Second Session of Harvard Model United Nations in the coming year.

With Immense Gratitude,

Calvin S.
Osborne
Secretary-
General
Harvard Model United Nations 2025
secgen@harvardmun.org

About Us

Our conference strives to simulate the complexities of international relations, offering participants a transformative educational experience that prepares them to become future leaders. Click here to learn more about our history and mission!

An aerial photograph of Harvard University's campus, showing several large, historic brick buildings with multiple chimneys and dormer windows. The foreground is filled with trees displaying vibrant autumn foliage in shades of yellow and orange. A white rectangular button with the text 'LEARN MORE' in all caps is centered over the middle of the image.

LEARN MORE

Committees

HMUN 2025 is offering 35 committees across five different organs. Click on the button below to learn more about our committee topics and directors!

COMMITTEE LIST

Preparation

Are you interested in joining the HMUN family? Click below to access our preparation resources and get ready for the conference!

HMUN X ICMUN TRAINING SERIES

